Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claims 1,2,5, the phrase "such as" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).

Claims 2-7 refer to claim 1 rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-5,7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walker, David et al [W0 9937105].

As to claim 1, Walker discloses a method transmitting information between transmitting terminal and receiving terminal comprising the steps of:

storing in a server on data constituting parts of a sending data be transmitted from said transmitting terminal to said receiving terminal [ Fig. 1 shows a server accessed by clients to compose a graphic message (sending data) from image component objects (data constituting parts of a sending data) that is stored in a server database, the graphic message is sent from a sending portable phone to a receiving portable phone (p. 3, lines 1-7, p. 5, lines 20-24)

authoring said sending data display unit the transmitting terminal by using the data stored [ the sender device under the direction of the user selects and downloading one or more image component objects (p. 3, lines 1-9). The selected image component objects are rendered on the sender's screen by editing and drawing the component objects by the user to generate a graphic objects by the user to generate a graphic message (sending data( p. 4, lines 2-13, p. 5, lines 12-15, lines 20-28));

storing said sending data in said server [ the message (sending data) is stored at the server (p. 5 lines 5-7) ]; distributing said data stored in said server to said receiving terminal [ messages are transmitted via server to the message receiving apparatus (i.e., distributed) (p. 2, lines 20-21)] and displaying the data distributed on a display unit of the receiving terminal (p. 2, lines 20-21).

wherein said transmission of information between the transmitting terminal and said receiving terminal is conducted using a mobile tool such as a mobile telephone set as at least one terminal of said transmitting terminal and said receiving terminal (p. 4, lines 11-15).

Walker discloses that the server and the mobile apparatus are connected via a communication link (p. 3, lines 5-6).

Art Unit: 2142

Walker does not disclose that the communication link is the Internet.

However, the use of the Internet is obvious in view of a communication link and one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was disclosed would be motivated to use the Internet which is a popular and numerous cluster of different networks connecting different and diverse users and devices across the world.

As to claim 2, refer to claim 1 rejection. Walker discloses a method images constituting a parts of sending images and drawing said sending image on display unit of (p. 4, lines 2-10, p. 5, lines 12-28).

As to claim 3, Walker further discloses wherein the step of drawing said sending image is conducted by calling a plurality of different ones of said images from the Internet server and composing them one another on the display of the transmitting terminal (p. 4, lines 2-13, p. 5, lines 12-28).

As to claim 4, Walker further discloses wherein the step drawing the sending image is conducted with addition to the sending image of character information be transmitted to said receiving terminal (p. 6, lines 4-7, lines 24-27).

As to claim 5, Walker further discloses wherein the transmission of the information is conducted using a mobile tool such as a mobile telephone set as said transmitting terminal and said receiving terminal (p. 4, lines 13-15).

As to claim 7, Walker further discloses wherein the step of displaying said sending image on said display unit of said receiving terminal includes a step draw a replying image by calling said images from said Internet server and modifying a part of said sending image (p. 4, lines 2-10, p. 5, lines 20-28).
